

Operation MI6: Trailer

[Audio: Eerie, tense instrumental music plays throughout the trailer]

The video opens with a crosshair moving across a black background and over some text displayed.

[Text: entertainers presents]

This flickers ahead of a transition to further text.

[Text: And from the creators of Murder Trial Tonight]

With a flickering effect, the text gets smaller as a series of numbers used for coordinates appears followed by a large crosshair.

The video flashes white ahead of a black background appearing with further text.

[Text: A brand new groundbreaking show coming to UK theatres]

The text flickers before you see the back of an audience.

The video then cuts to former MI6 Intelligence Officer Matthew Dunn sat in a chair facing the camera. In the background, is an artwork graphic displaying a map of the world and text.

[Text: Operation MI6]

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: Hi, I'm Matthew Dunn]

[Text: Former MI6 Intelligence Officer]

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: Former MI6 Intelligence Officer]

[Text: An immersive theatrical event]

The footage cuts to thermal heating footage of a van with several people carrying weapons moving. The video cuts back to Matthew.

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: You will be immersed into a MI6 control room]

A series of clips plays as Matthew talks including an officer opening a door and running up a set of stairs and a first-person perspective of someone running through a corridor.

[Text: The Operation Is Live]

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: The operation is live]

The video cuts to dashcam footage of officers holding weapons as they approach a white van.

[Text: The decisions are real]

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: The decisions are real]

A series of clips play including a first-person perspective of an officer handcuffing someone, a vehicle pulling up next to a person which switches to a first-person perspective of the officer approaching the same person, and thermal heating footage of vehicles in busy traffic next to some high-rise buildings.

[Text: What would you do?]

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: What would you do?]

A clip shows a person moving towards and opening a double-door ahead of cutting to audiences in an auditorium clapping.

The video cuts to a text graphic where a silhouette of a man run towards the screen.

[Audio: Matthew Dunn: Operation MI6?]

[Text: Operation MI6. Where the theatre becomes the command centre]

The footage cuts to Matthew sitting in a chair.

[Audio: Book your tickets now]

The video closes with a text graphic flickering as a crosshair moves around and within it.

[Text: entertainers]

ENDS